tough choice. Young

When you do what you like, there is no stress

My dream job would entail working either in the field of finance or entertainment. Both the sectors are completely different. After my graduation in management with a specialisation in finance, I joined a postgraduate diploma in advertising, events and the media. It was during the course that I got a good opportunity to learn the most important aspects of event planning. I got a low stipend when I worked as an intern for a company. At that juncture, I had to decide whether to stick to the event industry that I liked and paid less or change to something that had better prospects. My teacher advised me to make a mark in the field and that money would surely follow. He also told me that when you enjoy your work, there will be no stress.

Mentioned the name? Dr. Hoshi Bhiwandiwalla, founder of NIEM, is a professor at Ramjee Marine College, where he would also actively get involved with the events industry circles. He would also actively get involved in various capacities, he would even volunteer to work on various national level events. During his association with the college, he also established GENNEXT, a student-based event company, which worked on mega-events. These include: Filmfare, Pathak's, dance events, inter-college sports festivals, pageants, sports events, parties, management training programs among others.

It was this combined passion for teaching and events that gave him the idea to do more research about the industry. Realizing the need for a solid foundation, he initiated the first India-centric event management course and Asia's foremost event institute - NIEM. The formation of the institute gave a massive impetus to not just the event industry but even event management as a viable career option, a fact that has been mentioned in the LinkedIn of his students.

Dr. Bhiwandiwalla's branch has successfully completed 20 years, marking

A GUIDING FORCE

Dr. Bhiwandiwalla's death is a loss to the industry. He was a visionary leader who laid the foundation for the event management industry in India. His contributions to the industry are immense and will be remembered for years to come. He was a mentor to many students who have gone on to become successful event managers. His legacy lives on through the work of NIEM and the many students who have been mentored by him.

“With NIEM India is only the Fourth country in the world and the First in Asia to provide professional Event Management Training.”
